Clean Harbors Announces Opening of its Newest Service Center in the Tulsa, OK Area

Industrial and Field Services for the mid-South and Southwest Regions

Clean Harbors, North America's leading provider of environmental, energy and industrial services, recently opened its newest industrial and field service center. Located in Tulsa, Oklahoma, it serves the mid-South and Southwest regions including Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The Tulsa service center staff offers complete industrial and field services including emergency spill response, plant maintenance, and hazardous waste management and collection.

"We are excited about our investment in the Tulsa area and our expanded service offerings to the mid-South and Southwest regions," commented Clean Harbors Vice President of Field Services Charles Geer. "We are committed to providing our customers with the safest, highest quality industrial and field services."

The Tulsa location establishes a single point to provide environmental support to manufacturing, chemical and biotechnical companies, as well as utilities and telecommunications businesses. Clean Harbors Industrial and Field Services Technicians also will assist with community waste accumulation throughout the area.
